Rocky Ridge Maple Farms was founded in a small, rural town in Northern Pennsylvania. Owner, Joshua Bronson, grew up on a piece of vast farmland and because of his own passion for the outdoors and innate ambition, was motivated to become a maple syrup producer. The land itself is pristine forestland with a steep, rocky terrain, thus inspiring the farm's name, Rocky Ridge Maple. The longer, colder winters of this area along with the abundant maple tree growth, created the perfect atmosphere for the production of pure maple syrup.

At Rocky Ridge Maple Farms, we pride ourselves in providing the consumer with the highest quality and best tasting maple syrup that nature creates. Along with being USDA certified organic, we produce a signature flavor made from the combination of a variety of maple tree species. Our family-owned farm make up this diverse sugarbush, enabling us to produce the purest of nature's maple sap. Our dedication to using sustainable maple syrup production techniques and implementing environmental stewardship, ensures Rocky Ridge Maple Farms' products are the best for both the consumer and the environment.

Our Core Values

- Our goal at Rocky Ridge Maple Farms is to produce world class maple syrup while promoting an all-natural product.
- We have built strong, long-lasting relationships within our company. All of our employees are hardworking and passionate about producing the highest quality maple products.
- We practice organic, regenerative farming and produce all of our maple syrup without using pesticides or synthetic chemicals. This makes our syrup safe for the consumer and healthy for the planet.
